Bremen Oct 30th 1829

My dear Sir,

I have just arrived here, and recd your letter, which arrived safely with the books. As I am under the necessity of starting within two hours to reach the ship which is now down the river, and will sail immediately I cannot stop, of course, to write but a few words. I can say nothing about the books which are to be sold here in November, having had no time to visit them. The books which you have received for me from the Waisenhaus you need not pay for till you hear from me again, when I will send you the money. I shall write you soon after reaching home. I thank you heartily for your kind wishes. – I spent a very pleasant week in Göttingen. My best regards to your wife, whom I hope I shall soon have the pleasure of seeing in America.

Affectionately Yours
J Torrey.
